Juana: Thank you.

Nancy: Can I try them on?

Juana: Sure. Go ahead, try them on.

Nancy: Thanks. Now I need a mirror.

Juana: Okay, I have a little one in my purse.

Nancy: Oh! I feel dizzy! It must be the glasses!

Juana: Take a look at yourself.

Nancy: I look terrible!

Juana: Don't be silly. You look cute in them.

Nancy: I look all blurry!

Juana: That's because the glasses are my prescription, not yours.

Nancy: Oh, so that explains why you didn't look blurry to me when you had them on.

Juana: You're not serious, are you?

Nancy: Why do you say that?

Juana: You weren't wearing my glasses when you looked at me!

1. Master the vocabularies.
2. Pronounce the words correctly.
3. Understand the story.

Directions:

Read the story below. Then, try to answer the questions about the story.

I finally arrived at the dinner party. It was so pretentious. Everyone was dressed in very expensive clothes, drinking very old wine, and using very long words. I felt out of place. "Hey, welcome to the party," a classy man wearing a black and white tuxedo greeted me. He was holding a glass of champagne and gazing at the crowd of guests. "My name is Pierre," he continued, looking down into the bottom of his glass as he swirled it. The champagne bubbled and popped. "Interesting party," I said. "I wish I had this many friends, but I don't think I really fit in here." Pierre's eyes briefly met mine. "You know, I was just thinking the same thing. I don't believe I can relate to any of these people whatsoever" he said. "What? I thought this was your party?" I asked. "Why, heavens no! I'm just the doorman!" exclaimed Pierre.

Questions:

1. What are the people at the dinner party like?
2. What does the protagonist think Pierre is doing at the party?
3. What is Pierre really doing at the party?

No.

Raoul: Supper will be awhile. Why don't you have some peanuts while you wait?

Patricio: Okay. Yum, those are delicious! But I'm still hungry.

Norma: Yeah, me too.

Raoul: You can get some grapes out of the fruit bowl.

Patricio: Okay. Mmmm, these are really good. But I'm still hungry.

Norma: I am, too.

Raoul: Still hungry? You must have been famished. There's some macaroni and cheese in the fridge.

Patricio: This tastes great! But I'm still a little hungry.

Norma: Me too.

Raoul: You two are ravenous tonight! Why don't you have a piece of toast while you wait? I don't want to spoil your appetite.

Patricio: Okay. I love toast with butter and jam. It really hits the spot.

Norma: I like my toast with peanut butter and a glass of milk.

Raoul: All right! Supper is ready! Come and get it!

Patricio: Aw, Dad, I'm not really that hungry. I feel full.

Norma: Me too!
